

[] chloe age 12 (chloelizabeth.page@gmail.com , IP: 86.15.187.47) —
2012-02-07 18:16

The colour of an outcast

White clouds in the sky looking down upon us they enjoy the fact that we suffer

Greedy gods looking out for themselves they believe that they are superior

The think they can make us disappear

We are paint on a pallet

Both black and white separated by an - invisible force us, the minority, Stood solely at the edge we wait to be wiped off to go down the drain into eternal darkness forgotten, abandoned, lost we are the darkness

the uprising force seeking out to destroy all happiness we are black and dark no one wants or needs us we are the colour of outcasts!